Signatures are required for most Western SARE proposals. One essential signature is the Principal Investigator (PI). USDA defines a PI as one who has the authority to write and submit a proposal and carry out its contractual provisions. The PI is responsible for all expenditures and achieving the stated research and education objectives of the proposal.

Another signature, often required, belongs to the person who has the authority to enter into contractual agreements as the Authorized Organizational Representative (AOR, as defined by USDA) for a specific institution. For universities, this is usually the director of the sponsored programs office or its equivalent.
